Ten Fun Facts About Dogs

1. A dog's sense of smell is up to 100,000 times stronger than a human's. They can even smell certain medical conditions and find missing people.
2. Just like humans have unique fingerprints, no two dogs have the exact same nose print.
3. Dogs do not sweat through their bodies like we do. They cool down by panting and sweating only through their paw pads.
4. Dogs can breathe out of their nose and their mouth at the same time, which helps them sniff and breathe without stopping.
5. Newborn puppies are born with their eyes sealed shut and cannot hear anything. They open their eyes and start hearing at about two weeks old.
6. Many dogs can easily learn over 100 words and gestures, and some smart breeds can learn up to 250 words.
7. Dogs can actually see colours, but mostly shades of blue, yellow, and gray. They have trouble seeing red and green.
8. Just like people can be right-handed or left-handed, studies show that dogs also have a preferred paw they like to use.
9. Dogs can hear sounds four times farther away than humans can and hear very high-pitched sounds that we miss completely.
10. Dogs have three eyelids on each eye! The third lid is a special membrane that keeps their eyes safe from dust and wet.
