Guest Speaker Bio Sheet

Ravi K. Gandhi

Ravi K. Gandhi is a Canadian-Indian poet, writer, breathwork facilitator, and educator, living in Ontario Canada. He regularly performs and speaks about the power of poetry in front of audiences. He also runs workshops that integrate ideas around healing with writing, and how it may help dynamically remove stress and trauma that is stored in the body. With a growing online community, his words have captivated the hearts and minds of readers all over the world.

hope in the black hole is a collection of modern poetry about healing, transformation, and discovering light in life's darkest moments.

Through his intimate and reflective poetry, r.k.gandhi explores themes of emotional resilience, spirituality, trauma, and personal growth. These poems invite readers to slow down, look inward, and reconnect with the quiet strength that exists beneath pain and uncertainty.

Blending ideas of mindfulness, cosmic perspective, and inner awakening, this collection speaks to anyone searching for meaning in a chaotic world.
