Ten Fun Facts About Rhinos

1. A rhino's horn is not made of bone. It is made of keratin, which is the exact same tough material that your own hair and fingernails are made of! If a horn breaks, it can even grow back.
2. Despite their names, both black and white rhinos are actually grey.
3. Rhinos can run at speeds up to 60 kilometres per hour—that is as fast as a racehorse!
4. Rhinos love to roll around in thick mud. The mud acts like a natural sunscreen, keeps them cool on hot days, and stops bugs from biting their skin.
5. A group of rhinos is called a crash.
6. Rhinos have a super-powered sense of smell and great hearing to detect danger.
7. Rhinos use special shared poop piles (called middens) to talk to each other. By sniffing the dung, another rhino can get clues about the rhino it came from.
8. Rhinos are herbivores, which means they only eat plants. Some large rhinos have to munch on 100 to 120 pounds of grass, leaves, and branches every single day to stay full.
9. Asian rhinos, like the greater one-horned rhino, love the water and are great swimmers who can even dive underwater.'
10. Rhinos are ancient animals. Their family tree has existed on Earth for over 50 million years.
