Did You Know?

Ten Fun Facts About Foxes

1. Foxes belong to the Canidae family, making them distant cousins of domestic dogs, wolves, and coyotes.
2. Unlike most dogs, grey foxes have retractable claws that let them climb trees and even rooftops.
3. A red fox has such incredible hearing that it can hear a watch ticking from 40 yards away.
4. Their large, fluffy tails (called a "brush") keep them warm when they wrap them around their faces and noses in the cold.
5. A family or group of foxes is called a "skulk" or a "leash."
6. A male fox is called a "dog" or "dog fox," a female is a "vixen," and a baby is a "kit," "pup," or "cub."
7. Foxes use special whiskers on their legs and face to help them navigate and feel their way around.
8. Most foxes are nocturnal, meaning they are most active at night when they hunt for food.
9. They are omnivores, which means they eat meat like mice and rabbits as well as fruits, berries, and insects.
10. Foxes live on every single continent on Earth except for Antarctica.
