Ten Fun Facts About Chimpanzees

1. Just like humans, chimpanzees giggle and squeal when they play or get tickled by their friends!
2. Every single night, chimps bend and weave branches together to make comfortable, leafy beds high up in the trees to sleep in.
3. Chimps are some of the only animals that make and use tools. They use sticks to fish for tasty termites and rocks to crack open hard nuts.
4. Just like humans, every chimpanzee has their own special fingerprints, and no two are exactly alike!
5. Chimps love to groom (pick dirt and bugs) out of each other's fur. It isn't just about staying clean, though—it's how they build friendships and show affection!
6. Pound for pound, chimpanzees are estimated to be about five to six times stronger than humans.
7. Chimps communicate using a mix of facial expressions, body gestures, and loud calls, such as a famous loud scream called a "pant-hoot."
8. Just like humans, they have thumbs that help them grab branches, pick up food, and use tools with great control.
9. Baby chimps stay with their moms for years. They learn everything they need to survive, including how to find safe food and make tools, by watching her.
10. In some memory games, chimpanzees are surprisingly faster and better at remembering number sequences on a screen than adult humans!
